HOTEL DEL MONTE WILL BE REBUILT

UGLY STORIES OF LOOTING RUINS OF RESORT

NEW BUILDINGS ON A BIGGER SCALE PLANNED

Hostelry Will Arise a Second Time From Its Ashes—Tales of Heroic Rescues Come From Routed Guests —All Accounted For.

San Francisco. — Famed all the world over as the peer of recreation places and the gathering place of celebrities from all nations, the Hotel Del Norte bids fair to become equally famous for its Phoenix-like attributes.

With the ashes still hot and smoking from the second destruction, in the two-million-dollar fire which razed the main building and for a long time threatened to destroy the entire resort, the management had begun preparing plans for the restoration of the famous hostelry on a larger and grander scale.

The fire started on the fourth floor, almost directly above the main lobby, with the cause a difficult one to definitely determine. The destruction was so complete as to make the loss nearly $2,000,000, and added to it is an estimate of $250,000 worth of personal property which guests were unable to save. The two wings of the hotel were saved by dynamiting the semi-circular corridors, a distinguishing feature of the building.

The contents of the art gallery, including many valuable paintings, were rescued before the fire worked its way downward to consume the big dining room, the grill, the spacious parlors, the offices and all that was in the main building.

No one building in the west, probably, has house a larger number of notable and distinguished visitors. It was known in the capitals of Europe as one of the world's most alluring playgrounds. On this particular occasion, however, it was occupied almost entirely with "week-enders" from San Francisco.

There were many narrow escapes as the sleep-drugged guests, abandoning thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry and clothing, fled in flimsy night clothes through the smoke-filled halls to safety. But everyone was accounted for.

The value of the burned building was placed at $2,000,000; of this half is covered by insurance. In addition, loss of guests' possessions will total $250,000, it was declared.

OFFICIAL GOAL REACHED BY WORLD-GIRDLING FLYERS

Seattle.—The United States army aviators officially completed, Sunday, their flight around the world. They landed at the aviation field on the outskirts at 1:30 p. m. Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, the flight commander in the flagplane Chicago, was the first to land on the field from which they began their world-famous flight April 6 at 8:34 a. m. Lieutenant Leigh Wade of the plane Boston II, followed the flight commander, and Lieutenant Erik Nelson in the New Orleans, came down third. The three world girdlers arrived over the field at 1:30 o'clock and after circling over Lake Washington again crossed the field preparatory to making their final landing of the tour that began in April.

In their flight around the world they traveled 28,000 miles in the actual flying time of 371 hours and 11 minutes. They made seventy-six flights and flew on sixty-six days.

Charlotte Crabtree Passes

Boston.—Lotta Crabtree, retired actress, who thirty years ago was reputed to be the richest individual in stage life, and was a particularly bright star in the brilliantly studded firmament of the golden age of California, died, September 25, at the hotel which she had made her Boston home since her retirement at the height of her career in 1891. She was 77 years old. Born in New York city she went to California with her parents during the gold rush of the early fifties and her stage career began with a childish triumph which she achieved at the age of 6 in a dramatic performance given at Petaluma.

Sets New Seaplane Record

Fort Washington, N. Y.—Lieutenant David Rittenhouse, U. S. N., flying a Curtiss navy seaplane racer, broke his former world's seaplane speed record with a thirty-minute flight at an average speed of 227.5 miles per hour. Rittenhouse, whose former record was 169.89 miles per hour, attained a maximum speed of 242.5 miles, according to naval observers. The course measured 4.26 statute miles.

U. S.-JAPAN WAR TALK AT GENEVA

NIPPONESE FIGHT PLAN STIRS UP LEAGUE MEET

JAPS IN THE OPEN ON IMMIGRATION QUESTION

Want Clause Eliminated Barring War Over Internal Policies of Other Nations—Australia Included in Applied Threat.

"It is the profound conviction of the Japanese delegation that the league should find means for applying articles 12, 13, 14 and 15 of the covenant to every difference arising between league members. Faragraph 8, article 15, is the only section of the covenant which eliminates certain causes of disputes on grounds of the realm of so-called exclusive jurisdiction in one country. This appears to the Japanese delegation exceedingly illogical and unjust. The league will not be doing its duty unless it applies all the articles of the covenant to disputes arising from the so-called exclusive jurisdiction and a system made to enforce justice should not be framed so as to enforce the gravest injustice."

Geneva.—The Japanese government is now out in the open on the immigration question. With a proposition which shocked the league by its frank consideration of the probability of war with the United States or Australia, and upsetting all chance of getting the peace protocol before the assembly soon, Japan's amendment will be so bitterly contested that a compromise appears impossible.

Baron Abacci now demands the total suppression of the article of the new pact which declares that a nation which makes war over another nation's purely internal policy (the immigration question) is an aggressor.

Three days and nights of strenuous endeavor to bring Japan to reason and avert disaster to the league's peace system ended when Baron Abacci made the drastic proposal to save his country from punishment as an aggressor in a war.

Baron Abacci waited until the entire peace plan had been adopted before he made his new proposition. Then he rose and said:

"We have been carrying on very serious conversations in an effort to reach a conclusion of our amendment, previously presented. Unfortunately, in spite of every effort, no arrangements are possible on the text we have before us. As it is very late I will be brief, but frank and loyal."

Then he lifted a paper from his desk, saying he would read a declaration from the Japanese delegation. He then read the proposition quoted above.

It is realized by all parties that Japan will leave the peace system if its proposal is rejected, and that the whole British empire will bolt if it is accepted. It is not known how far Japan can count on France and Italy, though they stated they would vote for the first amendment.

JAPAN THREATENS TO QUIT LEAGUE OVER RESTRICTIONS

Geneva.—As the result of Great Britain's refusal to permit the question of immigration restriction to be made casus belli for international arbitration, Japan has threatened to quit the league of nations. Great Britain's opposition was maintained despite herculean efforts by Louis Loucheur of France, to conciliate the differences actuated by the situation in Australia and Canada, both of which have laws prohibiting the entrance of Asiatics. Japan's contention if admitted, say Englishmen here, would crowd Australia and British Columbia and eventually might swell California, Washington and Oregon with Japanese and Chinese.

Lord Parmoor, on behalf of the British government, formally indicated to the league council that Japan's proposal was "absolutely inadmissible." Shortly thereafter a report spread that Japan might withdraw from the league.

Calles, Mexican President

Mexico City. — General Plutarco Elias Calles was formally declared president-elect by the chamber of deputies, September 27. One vote prevented the election from being unanimous. ### German Planes Scare Paris

Parisians are at a loss whether to interpret this as a menace or of no significance.

PRES. COOLIDGE TALKS SUGAR WITH CONG. FREE

Congressman A. M. Free, of this district, was closeted with President Coolidge for over half an hour last week in the interview of the sugar beet growers of his district.

Under the recent tariff law, the President has the power to raise or lower a tariff fifty per cent. A request was recently presented to have President Coolidge lower the tariff on sugar. This would mean large importations of sugar from Cuba, and the destruction or near destruction of the beet sugar industry in the United States .

Congressman Free, at the request of the beet sugar growers, left California very hurriedly in order to present their case to President Coolidge.

Yesterday, as Mr. Free left the whitehouse, he was asked the result of his interview. He replied "the President went into a very frank and detailed discussion of the subject with me. He asked me many questions and candidly told me his general views on the subject. Without divulging a confidence, I cannot repeat all he said, but you can say I am very much pleased with my interview.

"The President is not going to do anything to injure the farmers of this country, nor is he going out of his way to hamper any California industry. The law require him to fix a tariff to equalize the difference in cost of production here and abroad. I am satisfied he will do this in a fair manner and without intentionally injuring the beet growers. The president believes in building up industries and not tearing them down. I am satisfied he will never let us get into the grasp of the sugar beet barons of Cuba, as happened in 1920, when they got control of the market and forced the price of sugar up to 26 cents per pound. The sugar produced in this country is the safeguard the consumer has against this Cuban monopoly and price control."

Next week is registration week for minors and all parents of children between the ages of three to eighteen years are required by law to register them. Parents will please come to the Grammar school office any day next week, October 6-10, where some one will be in attendance to take their registrations. This is required of parents whether or not the children are in school.

SKULE FACULTY TENDERED RECEPTION

Friday evening the Home and School club held a reception at the grammar school for the faculty, to renew acquaintances with those who had been here before and to meet the new principal and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Abbott, and the the other new members.

Following the introductory ceremonies the company assembled in the cafeteria for the program.

Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, president of the club, welcomed the teachers and the parents who were present in their honor, voicing the opinion that the present corps is one of the best in the state.

Mr. Abbott, on behalf of himself and the other teachers responded to the words of welcome and this was followed by two delightful violin solos played by Miss Downing, accompanied by Mr. Allen.

A very pleasing bit of humor was contributed to the entertainment in the two readings given by Miss Schulte. Delightful piano numbers by Miss Katherine Wood and vocal selections by Mrs. R. H. Hyde, accompanied by Mrs. G. S. Robson, completed a very pleasant program.

The club served dainty refreshments while the company improved the opportunity to become better acquainted.

This is only the beginning of good things promised by this energetic organization, one of which is a Father's Night, to be given before long

CAMPBELL BOYS EARN COVETED HONORS

Campbell may well be pdoud of the number of students from her community who attend higher institutions of learning, and the very creditable records they make both in the colleges and after graduation.

Another of our boys who has already achieved distinction is George R. Stray, son of Mr. and Mrs W. H. Stray, who, although a graduate of the San Jose Hi, has made his home in Campbell since that time. We are quoting in part fro man item relative to the work of this young man, which appeared recently:

"Reflecting signal honors on its three authors, a thesis on electrical engineering entitled "The Power Measurementes at High Voltage and Low Power Factors,' written jointly by George R. Stray, Joseph Carrol and Thomas F. Peterson, Stanford graduates, was published in full in a recent issue of the "American institute of Electrical Engineering," a magazine of national circulation.

The thesis was the graduation work of three authors, who recieved diplomas in electrical engineering from Stanford in June.

George Stray is now with the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y. His selection for this 'post graduate' course is itself an honor.

This concern selects a few honor graduates in electrical engineering each year and gives them a course at its main plant at Schenectady. They are paid a wage per hour, and in turn must attend lectures. Thus the General Electric company hopes to keep the ranks of competent engineer filled. "

Other Campbell boys who have had the distinction of being chosen to go to Schenectady are Herbert Scholz and Frank Mendel.

Stanford University opened for registration this week and Campbell is sending a quoto of its young people. Margaret Wood and Yale Maxon as freshmen, Lucile Alison and Katherine Woods as Juniors, and Walter Farr, a senior.

Considerable interest was manifest in the fire near Loma Prieta last week. The amount of damage is not yet known but the blaze is apparently under control with but a few smouldering stumps to show its trail.

Amphibious automobiles which are at home as much in the water as on land are the newest attractions at Bognor's. Known as sea-cars, they look like motor launches on wheels. Visitors hire them at the station, tour the town and then sail out across the water. The photograph shows one of the cars taking to the water.

Trustee Savings Accounts Give Protection to Minors

Other savings accounts at your service include:

Individual Savings

Joint Savings

Trust Savings

Association Savings

Co-Partnership Savings Account

Because it affords exceptional protective features, the Trustee Savings Account is used widely by parents who wish to provide an easily accessible fund of money for the minor or minors of the family.

This is a savings account in the name, let us say, of "John Doe" for his little son, "Jimmy Doe." It earns regular savings account interest and anyone may place deposits.

Funds can be withdrawn only, however, on the signature of "John Doe, trustee." In case of death of trustee the funds are payable to the trustor, "Jimmy Doe," or if he is still a minor, to "Jimmy's" legal representative.

If double trusteeship is preferable, then the account is payable on the signature of either trustee, or to the surviving trustee; but should both trustees die, the trustor, or his legal representative receives the funds.

We will be glad to answer any inquiry regarding Trustee Savings Accounts.

THE ELECTION AND BUSINESS

We believe the American people are capable of attending to the matter of electing a president this fall and still attend to their business; that the usual alibi for inertia in business will not hold good. Whether the people want a change of administration or whether they want to leave things as they are, there certainly is no excuse for our letting down the bars of inactivity in our commercial relationships and in our daily work.

We should all work as hard as we vote. This will keep the wheels of progress moving. The very fact that there is a traditional slump in business during presidential election years should stimulate us on to greater efforts.

REDUCE CROSSING ACCIDENTS

A current report to the Interstate Commerce Commission shows a percentage reduction of the crossing accidents of a certain great railway system to be 8.1 per thousand registered automobiles for six months compared with six months of last year. This is yet 91.9 too many. Casualty lists of grade crossings, coming by "bits" and in different sections of the country, do not seem so appalling; but when lumped they compare "favorably" with the casulty lists of war.

When we can reduce carelessness, we can reduce crossing accidents. When we increase the efficiency of automobile drivers, raise the standards of qualification as drivers, and then come as nearly as possible eliminating all grade crossings, we will reduce carelessness or at least help to prevent it. It is a problem both in mathematics and in morals. The railroads, too, must come in for their share of responsibility, but that does not relieve the rest of us from our duty of being careful and of protecting the lives of those in our cars.

On general principles we pay interest.

$25,000,000 Yearly If Initiative 11 Loses

Development of the Klamath river power resources will add $25,000,000 yearly to the taxable wealth of California.

This statement has been issued by the Eureka Chamber of Commerce.

However, the possibility of adding this vast sum to the taxable wealth of the state, it was declared, is seriously threatened by initiative measuer, Number Eleven, on the November ballot. If this measure is carried development of Klamath river power resources will be forever prevented and this huge sum yearly wasted, the statement concluded. The Eureka people ask a vote of "No" on the measure.

Deaths from alcoholsim in California are increasing, according to figures compiled by L. E. Ross, director of the state bureau of vital statistics. Although these deaths decreased soon after prohibition went into effect, they are now on the increase. In 1920, just after the Volstead act became a law, there were thirty-seven deaths in the state from alcoholism. During the first seven months of this year there have been ninety-eight. This means 170 deaths this year unless the present rate drops.

W. C. T. U.

W. C. T. U.

The following Declaration of Principles is repeated at each of the regular meetings of the Campbell W. C. T. U.:

"We believe in the coming of His kingdom Whose service is perfect freedom because His laws, writte n in our members as wel as in nature and in grace, are perfect converting the soul.

"We believe in the Gospel of the Golden Rule and that each man's habit of life should be an example, safe and beneficient for every other man to follow.

"We believe that God create' both man and woman in His own image, and therefore we believe in one starnard of purity for both men and women, and in the equal right of all to hold opinions and to express the same with equal freedom.

We believe in the prohibition of the liquor traffic, the opium and tobacco traffic, the gambling house and haunts of shame.

"We believe in a living wage; in an eight-hour day; in courts of consiliation and arbitration; in justice as opposed to greed of gain; in 'peace on eadth and good will to men.'

"We therefore formulate and do ourselves adopt the following pledge, asking our sisters and brothers of a common danger and a common hope, to make common cause with us, in working its reasonable and helpful precepts into the practice of everyday life.

"I hereby solemnly promise, God help me to abstain from all distilled, fermented and malt liquors, including wine, beer and cider and to employ all proper means to secure the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, and by the payment of $1.00 annual dues to become a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

"To conform and enforce the rationale o fthis pledge, we declare our purpose to educate the young; to form a better public sentiment; to reform, as far as possible, by religious, ethical and scientific means the drinking cases; to seek the transformation power of Divine grace for ourselves and all for whom we work, that they and we may wilfully transcend no law of pure and wholesome living; and finally we pledge ourselves to labor and to pray that all these principles, founded upon the gospel of Christ, may be worked out into the customs of society and the laws of the land."

LITTLE THEATRE MOVEMENT

Since we have right here in Campbell a representative "Little Theatre" program on the evening of November 1, it may be interesting to note just what the Little Theatre Movement means.

Its first emphasis is on sincerity and truth. All art is contageous and therefore, only as the player is sincere and genuine, will the beholder be genuinely moved. Skilled technique therefore, must be, trained voices are desirable, but these alone will not carry conviction. Therefore "staginess" and declamation have no place in the Little Theatre.

Second, settings are generally imaginative rather than realistic. The idea is to suggest rather than to literally portray. Any setting, property or scenic effect that takes the attention from the action is bad, makes for confusion and sins against economy of attention. Human beings, not things, should be the center of interest in the drama. Settings, costumes, lighting, etc., are but helps to lend color and atmosphere to the play.

The last named consideration means a more popular appeal for the drama. Under Little Theatre conditions, any community may have its own playhouse, and a greater number of people may enjoy drama, both as player and audience.

Finally, the Little Theatre is unique in its offerings. The artistic short plays, which form so large a portion of the programs of European theatres, are given in this country only by Little Theatres. Thus a new form of dramatic art is given the public, which would otherwise be unobtainable.

The Boulevard Players will demonstrate these principles in a program of three short plays at the Grammar School Auditorium, on Friday evening, November 1.

LEISURE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

POWELL had a job that kept him busy eight hours a day and on the side he was attempting to get some necessary reading done to fit him for a promotion.

"I'd like to do it," he assured me, "and I know I should, but I haven't a minute's time."

"Keep a record of how you spend your time for a week," I said to him, "and then come back and see me."

He brought the record in rather shamefacedly at the end of the week.

"I don't work as much as I thought," he said.

It was quite as I had supposed. He was wasting half of his available time in foolish or unprofitable things. He had leisure, but he used it to no advantage. He was helped by it neither to be a better nor a more efficient man.

You can tell more about a man's character by the way he spends his time than anything else. Vacations test a man's moral fiber much more than the regular routine of daily work. During his leisure hours one is not under restraint or direction. He may do as he pleases.

"The real test of living," a recent writer says, "is what the individual does with his day's leisure. It is going to be a much more difficult task of our civilization to learn to use leisure wisely than it has been to learn to labor efficiently."

"How do you spend your vacation?" I asked a half-dozen fellows not long ago. And the answer was very interesting. Most of them expected to sleep until noon each day, some were planning more or less exhausting social activities, and only one had in mind the employment of the time in such a way as to bring him back stronger and better fitted to take up his work.

Many of the great accomplishments of the world have been made possible because busy men were willing to employ their leisure time in things that were worth while.

How much leisure do you have, and how do you spend it? In reading, in working at an avocation, in healthy out-of-door exercise, or in sleeping, in loafing about the fireplace or in associations that are not strengthening to your character? The answer to the question will tell you a lot about yourself.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

FEWER FATALITIES IN NEW YORK

During the first six months of 1924, with an increase of 60,000 registered motor cars recorded, there were fewer casualties per car and fewer fatalities in New York City than for the previous six months' period. Credit is largely due to the Bureau of Public Safety, ably directed by Special Deputy Police Commissioner Barron Collier.

On July 1, 1924, there were 377,666 registered motor vehicles in New York while a year ago there were 317,362. Placed in a line, allowing 30 feet to a car, the 377,666 cars would extend over 2145 miles.

Commissioner Collier believes that authority for police regulation of pedestrians to compel them to cross streets at proper crossings and more severe penalties for reckless driving are measures greatly needed.

HOW TO STOP ACCIDENTS

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, after an exhaustive analysis of motor vehicular accidents makes these recommendations:

1. Thirty six per cent of fatalities reported in one month were children. Adequate play grounds must be provided. If necessary, special streets can be reserved at play areas. Education, in crossing at cross walks, and observance of other traffic conditions included in the school courses.

2. In most accidents motor vehicles strike pedestrians. Safety zones protect pedestrians and deprive the motorist of any excuse for carelessness.

3. Buffalo has studied its flow of traffic, knows the time and causes of its accidents, and applies remedies. All cities should approach the subject on this scientific basis.

MAKE HIGHWAYS SAFER

In their efforts to reduce the number of automobile accidents at grade crossings certain railroads have decided to prosecute those who crash through closed gates, thus damaging railroad property.

* * *

The time will come when all much-traveled highways will pass overhead or underneath, railroad tracks.

* * *

Signs indicating that streets are one-way streets should be illuminated at night.

* * *

It is good for the pedestrian and good for the motorist to make it easy to operate a motor car.

* * *

The cities with the most motor cars are the most prosperous.

IRRITATING PEDESTRIANS

Nothing irritates the pedestrian quite so much and rightfully so as when the thoughtless motorist stops his car—waiting to cross the street—directly in the path of the pedestrian.

Senator Nelson Hits Fish Board

State Leader Declares Body Has Broken Law, Gone Too Far

Senator H. C. Nelson of Humboldt county, openly charges the State Fish and Game Commission with violation of the California state law, in a statement he has made public.

According to Senator Nelson, the commission has not only violated the law, but is exceeding its authority and seeking to strangle the development of a large section of Northern California.

He charges the commission with allowing a cannery on the Klamath river to net steelhead trout. This was allowed, he declared, in violation of the law.

In further charging the commission with exceeding its authority and seeking to strangle the development of Northern California, Senator Nelson attacked the action of the game board in sponsoring the initiative measure, Number Eleven, at the November election, which would create a fish preserve on the Klamath river, and forever prevent the development of power resources, in the face of United States government guarantees that fish will be protected when development is undertaken.

"Many people believe," said Senator Nelson, "that the power of the Klamath river should be utilized in the establishment of industries. Projects under way should be allowed to be completed.

"This is of vital importance, not alone to Northern California but the whole state, and we believe that the state Fish and Game Commission is altogether exceeding its authority in appealing to sentiment and prejudice and is seeking to strangle the future development of a large section of the state upon what it claims to be the interest of fish and game."

Under the provisions of the Federal Power Commission "existing conditions" of fish migration and culture must be maintained along with power development projects. This provision alone, it is held, does away with the strongest argument in favor of initiative measure, Number Eleven.

The painting of the letters "K. K. K." and "K. I. G. Y." on state highways in the vicinity of San Francisco and Los Angeles has brought an order from the highway commission directing its division engineers to warn all organizations which have printed signs on state roads that the practice must stop.

"California's business outlook for the coming year is brighter than that of any other section in the United States," said Willis H. Booth, president of the Internationanl Chamber of Commerce, who arrived in San Francisco, after having just completed a survey of European business conditions.

Professor Edmond L. Clark, 75, pioneer fiddler and dancing master of Woodland, recently took unto himself a wife in the person of Mrs. Delia Lindsay, 59, of Rumsey, herself four times a bride. Between the two of them they have enjoyed nine marriages in their total span of 134 years.

Possible projection of a new oil district in the foothills east of Porterville is under consideration by oil experts from Oklahoma and Texas fields, who inspected the field and expressed conviction that oil in paying quantities will be found in the section under consideraiton.

Collar and Cuff Sets the Call of the Mode

Sing a song of lingerie collars and cuffs, they are the fashion of the hour. Let every school girl join in the chorus, for pretty, lacy, frilly things at neck and wrist have such a happy way of giving one a refreshing start to classroom each morning.

If one heed the promptings of the mode, one will see to it that the school-time outfit includes one of the popular youthful-looking fine flannel frocks either plaided, striped or in solid coloring. To wear with it, in the till of one's trunk or in one's top dresser drawer should be a plenteous supply of lingerie collar and cuff sets, a lace vestee or two, a net and insertion bib effect and do not forget to include one of the detachable lace panels which drop from their matching collars to the very hemline of the dress. Garnitured with these dainty accessories, even the most ordinary frock assumes a distingue air of charm and refinement.

Old Horn ar .. Make Useful Knock Detector

Knocks are often very difficult to locate in an automobile engine. Various devices have been used to locate the trouble, but as good a one as is to be had can be made in a few minutes from an old horn and a rod. All the horn but the bell and diaphragm should be removed. A screw should be placed through the diaphragm and screwed into the end of the rod. When the other end of the rod is placed against the engine the knock can be heard very plainly in the bell. By removing the rod to different points on the cylinder block or crankcase the exact location of the trouble can be discovered.

Frequent Lubrication Is Important for Clutch

One of the most commonly neglected parts of the car, so far as lubrication goes, is the clutch-operating mechanism. In the case of disk clutches running in oil, the lubrication of the thrust collar and the lever operating it, is automatic. But with clutches that do not operate in a bath of oil, the thrust collar and lever require oiling by hand. The service of these parts is exacting and frequent lubrication of the ball thrust bearing and of the end of the lever which actuates it, is necessary. Furthermore, the bearings of the clutch pedal and the pins which secure the clutch operating linkage should be frequently lubricated.

Within six weeks California income tax payers will know whether they will be entitled to a refund of more than $50,000,000, according to Attorney General Stone's announcement in Washington. The attorney general refused to state whether his decision would be favorable or unfavorable to those in this state who paid income taxes on community property. If the ruling is favorable to Californians the money to be returned will have to be appropriated by congress.

Modern Banking and How it Has Changed From Pre-War Days

VI

THE efforts of the modern banker are all directed to devising means to help and assist his customers, and enable them to get the best returns for any investment they may make, while at the same time insuring the absolute safety of their funds.

We pointed out in a previous article how the Humboldt bank of San Francisco has devised a plan by which patrons of its Trust Department can treble their savings in less than six years by a systematic plan of saving. It was a guarantee at once of safety and a safe return for the money invested.

Another plan is offered its depositors in the Savings Department by which they can secure all the advantages of an ordinary savings account, four per cent interest, right to withdraw a part of the deposit when desired, and yet insure that if they should die the balance of their savings account would go to such heirs as they may designate without any probate, without any red tape or delay. All that is necessary is to prove that you are the designated heir, and that the depositor is dead. On submission of that proof the Humboldt Bank transfers the account to the heir, and there is no delay, no court costs, no will to be disputed. It is only subject to inheritance taxes, which only apply in case of large amounts.

This new system is known as the Trust Funds Savings Account, and the more widely its advantages are known and understood by the general public the more popular it becomes. It is, in brief, an old-fashioned Savings Account, plus the many advantages which we have enumerated above.
